

InterPlay
unlock the wisdom of your body

accepting 15 emerging artist/activists age 18-32

Art & Social Change

InterPlay for Millennial Leaders

Two-Week Program • Monday–Friday, July 21–August 1, 2014
InterPlayce • Oakland, California

InterPlay is accepting 15 emerging artists, age 18-32

from Oakland and other parts of the US and the world who are ready to

- do good and feel good
- unlock body wisdom
- do art research around big issues
- help others without losing one's own mind, body, heart, or spirit
- be part of a cutting-edge global movement
- learn the way of improvisation
- and connect with affirming mentors

The Program

InterPlay is a philosophy and practice that builds artistic skill, leadership ability and develops strong community. InterPlay is also a world-wide community of artist-activists who believe in their ability to change the world through freedom of expression. Developed over the last twenty-five years by Phil Porter and Cynthia Winton-Henry, InterPlay is a practice that teaches groups and individuals to tap into their artistic authority and positively affect other people.

In its fifth year, Art & Social Change is supporting the next generation of artist-activists—people interested in the arts and social change—to take InterPlay's "sneaky deep" playful practices of improvisational movement, storytelling, poetry, voice, and music into new places.

Gain the "how to's" of InterPlay's holistic framework for using performing arts in group development to unlock wisdom, share resources, build bridges, heal, and make peace...all while having FUN. The program certifies participants as graduates of the InterPlay Life Practice Program and qualifies them to pursue training as certified InterPlay leaders.

Deadline for application
Friday, June 6, 2014

The InterPlay Approach to Art & Social Change

- Do you want to make a difference in the world?
- Are you as interested in people-making almost as much as art-making?
- Is there a place for "soul" in your vocabulary?
- Are you more interested in solutions than in problems?

Cofounders Cynthia Winton-Henry and Phil Porter are international leaders recognized for developing InterPlay as a potent system and global community of "players." InterPlay's multi-disciplinary creative methods are used in daily life, relationships, performance, therapy, ritual, business and education. Participants will learn elegant tools that make the use of movement, voice, storytelling, theater, stillness, music, and contact easy, accessible and powerful for any group.

This workshop is designed for "Millennial" undergrads, graduate students, and artists interested in studying with members of InterPlay's cutting-edge San Francisco Bay Area performance community. It provides a unique setting to play with contemporary personal, political and cultural issues using InterPlay's revelatory, improvisational, community-based techniques.

- The workshop exposes students to a fearlessly innovative style of community art and performance focusing on improvised ensemble, duet, and solo forms which use and combine movement, storytelling and voice.
- Students will develop skills in leadership, community development and self-care that are crucial for effective social change.
- Students work closely with skilled San Francisco Bay Area InterPlay performers.
- This dynamic workshop provides students with affirmation and development of their artistic strengths, opportunities to gain competency in other art forms, and practice utilizing community art forms for social change.
- Students will strengthen their intuition and unlock their own wisdom by using the philosophy and practices that have grown out of the twenty-year-old InterPlay philosophy.

The program places a strong emphasis on community by creating connections with:

- mentors that can provide not only artistic training but support for leadership development
- other participants in the program which can provide future support
- a variety of members of the InterPlay community, a strong network with an interest in art and social change
- advocates in the student's home community who can help make it possible for students to attend.

Daily Schedule

Sessions will go from 9 am to 5 pm, Monday-Friday with some additional evening events. Lunch will be provided. The days will be very full! The first week will be devoted to basics. During the second week participants will have opportunities to explore and expand their chosen artistic interest and get support for their dreams and visions.

Mornings Learn storytelling, movement, voice, music and contact practices with InterPlay cofounders Phil Porter and Cynthia Winton-Henry and outstanding InterPlay leaders.

Afternoons Learn eight core body wisdom tools for success in community art and receive focused affirmation in a chosen art medium.

Evenings Meet Oakland members of the InterPlay-based WING IT! Performance Ensemble; witness InterPlay being used in an outreach setting; and create an intimate studio performance with the other students in the program to which the InterPlay community will be invited (Thursday, August 1). Not all evenings will be programmed.

Tuition

Tuition for the two-week program is $1400. This includes all training sessions and lunch. Dinner, additional entertainment and transportation costs are not included.

In order to foster the sort of community connections that are important to any artist/activist, we are asking that each participant have an advocate (a teacher, mentor, friend or family member) who is willing to recommend and help them secure funding for the program from her or his local community.

We will also work with participants to complete the registration process and meet the tuition requirements. Some scholarships are available. A Tuition Proposal is included in this packet of information.

We will notify you about your acceptance within two weeks of the application deadline. Accepted students will have until Friday, June 20, 2014, to confirm their attendance, make a deposit of $200 and submit a tuition proposal and/or tuition payment plan (monthly installments are acceptable). Total payment or a first installment will be due by Monday, July 7, 2014.

Checks should be made payable to "Body Wisdom, Inc." (Body Wisdom, Inc., is InterPlay's non-profit incorporation.) You may also pay by credit card by calling the Body Wisdom/InterPlay office (510/465-2797).

Housing

Members of the Oakland InterPlay community will provide housing and breakfast participants if needed. Lunch will be provided as part of the program.

How to Apply

The first step is to indicate your intent to register by emailing Cynthia Winton-Henry at cynthia@interplay.org.

In that email, please include

- a brief resume that lists your address and phone, any arts, communication, and community volunteer experience. Include: the name of any production, your role or crew assignment, production dates (month and year), and the name of the producing organization (e.g. high school, community theatre, college). List any additional formal or informal training. Also list any of your community involvement or interest in social action.
- A photo
- A one page personal statement describing your interest in this workshop.

Please do the above first before taking any of the following steps. We'll be in direct with you contact with you (phone or skype) to assist you with the next steps, which will include the following:

1. Have a mentor, art teacher, or InterPlay advocate recommend you in a one page letter that describes your talents, experience or abilities in the arts. The letter should also address your personal attributes, such as initiative, reliability and ability to work well with others. Have them send it to InterPlay for Millennial Leaders, 2273 Telegraph Ave, Oakland CA 94612, or email cynthia@interplay.org.
2. Complete the Registration Form.
3. If seeking tuition support, work with your advocate to fill out the Tuition Proposal which is included.
4. Send in your tuition deposit of $200.

We will have you send all materials no later than Friday, June 6, 2014 to:

InterPlay for Millennial Leaders
2273 Telegraph Avenue
Oakland CA 94612
